Our voices have been heard,
but the real work is just beginning.

In 2007, the ACC eliminated more than 50 years of policy that provided initial line extensions for new ratepayers paid for by utility companies. They have agreed to reexamine the policy. Now is the time to offer examples of the effect of this decision on statewide land values. Advise your clients with raw land parcels so they can offer their experience with the new costs of obtaining electric service.

If you are not able to attend this meeting, please take a moment and email Commissioner Gary Pierce who requested these workshops with your comments on the effects of this new ACC policy eliminating line extensions at Pierce-web@azcc.gov.
